Each year, 600 classes, presentations, lectures and film series are offered by Master the Possibilities. Course catalogs – in which nearly half of the classes are new each semester – are issued four times a year.

The program's cornerstone is its professional, credentialed faculty, about 80 percent with graduate degrees, offering topics appealing to a diverse, well-educated population. The faculty includes full-time and seasonal residents of On Top of the World, while others are from the University of Florida in nearby Gainesville or other central Florida areas.

Enrollment has grown steadily, from 3,200 when the program was introduced in 2006 to 15,000 in 2008.
